

HABITAT HOMEOWNER

Maria and her two children, a teen son and a teen daughter, moved from Juarez, Mexico, almost two decades ago.

Maria, who works for a local company called Nite Ize, received her introduction to Habitat for Humanity 14 years ago, but she didn't have the proper documentation to be eligible at the time. Then in late 2013 she applied again. She said being selected to become a partner family with Flatirons Habitat for Humanity shows how far she has come in the past two decades. She celebrated this great accomplishment with tears of joy.

Her commitment and dedication has paid off and now she wants others to understand that nothing is impossible as long as your dedication is absolute and vigorous.

Maria said being a part of the Habitat family will be very special to her. Now that this dream has come true, she will focus on helping her two children receive a better education and will pursue becoming a citizen of this country that she can now call home.
