Apply to be a Habitat homeowner

Flatirons Habitat is now seeking future homeowners for homes at two of our Boulder developments. Families are considered for selection based on a clear need for housing, residency, willingness to partner, and ability to pay. Please review eligibility guidelines at www.flatironshabitat.org/orientation.

We especially encourage public servants such as firefighters, police officers, and teachers who have lived or worked in Boulder Valley School District or the City and County of Broomfield for 12 of the past 24 months to apply.

Eligible applicants must attend a homeowner orientation during the week of August 29, 2018 to be considered for homeownership. Space is limited and will be reserved on a first-come, first-serve basis. RSVPs are required.

#25ReasonsWeBuild: To stay in the community where we built our family

Like all Habitat homeowners, Stephanie and Ignacio literally helped build their home. Partnering - and building - with Habitat was about more than finding a place to live within their budget. It was a way to put down long-lasting roots in the community where they have grown their family and shaped their lives.

Welcome Jonah Kinchy as our new Director of Construction!

Please welcome Jonah Kinchy as our new Director of Construction! Jonah joined Flatirons Habitat in 2017 as our Construction Superintendent. He began his career in affordable housing after graduating from Bard College at Simon's Rock when he became an AmeriCorps National member at Twin Cities Habitat. He has also worked for Boulder's Weatherization Program, where he installed energy-saving measures in low-income housing, as well as the Housing Rehab Project, where he helped more than fifty low-income families rehabilitate flood-damaged homes.

Now Seeking Construction Crew Leaders

Do you know your way around a construction site? Are you interested in becoming regularly involved with Flatirons Habitat for Humanity? Consider becoming a construction crew leader! We rely on our crew leaders to offer guidance and oversight to their fellow volunteers at build sites, and to help make sure that construction projects are carried out safely.

Contact Jonah Kinchy at jkinchy@flatironshabitat.org for more information.

Calling all volunteers!

As our King's Ridge build revs up, we have plenty of opportunities open to volunteers on the build site. And if you're looking to avoid the hot weather, consider volunteering at the ReStore! Volunteer opportunities are listed at flatironshabitat.volunteerhub.com/
