

Flatirons Habitat AmeriCorps members pitch in for Build-A-Thon 2018

Our three resident AmeriCorps members, Chloe, Holli, and Taylor, spent a week in North Carolina participating in the annual Habitat for Humanity/AmeriCorps Build-a-Thon, joining together with more than 250 other volunteers to accelerate home-building for Habitat for Humanity of Wake County. These three ladies know that building a home takes hard work and lots of hands, and we're proud of them for facing a week of North Carolina humidity in the name of affordable housing!

We know that it takes teamwork to build homes - and that's one of the 25 reasons we're building on our 25th anniversary. To keep up with the full list, as well as some 25th anniversary reflections, visit <http://www.flatironshabitat.org/single-post/25Reasons>.

We're seeking our next AmeriCorps members

Serve, learn, lead, and explore in the beautiful Rocky Mountains! Flatirons Habitat for Humanity, which serves Boulder and Broomfield counties, has been hosting AmeriCorps members since 2009. They play an integral role in providing leadership on our project sites, engaging volunteers to become champions for our mission, and creating new tools and systems to build capacity.

New Openings:

- Construction Crew Leader (2 openings beginning September 2018)
- Family Services Coordinator (1 opening beginning December 2018)
